

My name is Jane and I am proud to be the Senco officer for Holyrood Hope.

My role is to be an ambassador for children with special educational needs and disabilities by ensuring they receive the highest standard of care. I am here to help you and your family, to support with additional services available or just to have a coffee when needed.

I have supported families and children over the years with a range of additional needs.

I also take the lead for all 2 year' checks.

Many of our staff team bring a wealth of support and experience for children with complex needs and also speech and language support.

If you are worried about your child's development, in the first instance please speak to your child's key person. If you are still worried after that, please do not hesitate to speak with me. I am based in the 2-3's room.
